

Healthcare

White Brenner LLP attorneys can provide a broad scope of services to healthcare organizations. Our team has represented a variety of healthcare businesses, such as providers, health plans, physician groups, pharmacy benefit managers, manufacturers of pharmaceuticals, clearinghouses, and wholesalers and public healthcare districts.

We can provide assistance in regulatory issues, legislation, litigation, government contracts and grants, state budget issues and related matters. We bring an interdisciplinary approach to our clients' matters by assigning our teams with the best combination of skills and experience to achieve the desired result.

Healthcare providers, like other businesses, sometimes become involved in business litigation with suppliers, tenants, contractors, governmental agencies, third party payers, business associates, physicians, competitors and other parties. White Brenner LLP's litigation practice group is well positioned to litigate and defend healthcare disputes.

In our healthcare lobbying practice, we represented a large coalition among the business community that was opposed to a government healthcare mandate on employers of 20 or more employees. One of our partners served as lead counsel to the coalition in a successful statewide referendum campaign against the law.
